Engaging Activity: Chair Cat/Cow

- . Sit in Seated Mountain with hands on knees.
- 2. As you inhale, stretch your arms overhead and interlace fingers. Reach the center of your chest up toward the ceiling, and lift your chin so that you are looking at the ceiling. (Cow)
- 3. As you exhale, in one movement bring your hands forward, round your spine and drop your chin toward your chest. (Cat)
- 4. Repeat for several breaths: inhale, arms up, gaze lifts, chest up. Exhale round the spine, chin tucks, hands forward.
- 5. Return to Seated Mountain.

*You can have young learners moo like a cow and meow like a cat. Just make sure the do a few rounds moving with the inhale and exhale first.

*If on the floor, learners can come to hands and knees. Inhale, the belly drops down toward the floor and we look up toward the ceiling (Cow). Exhale, look at your belly button and round your spine (Cat). Repeat for several breaths.

Thrive Thursday: Higher Education Considerations

- Rates of college student depression, anxiety, and perceived stress have almost doubled for over the last decade.
-) Nonbinary students and female students report higher levels of perceived stress than their cisgendered and/or male colleagues.
- Increased academic GPA is associated with students who take a balanced, multi-dimensional approach to wellness.
- Studies find campus-based supports helpful for student well-being include:
 - Activities and programs
 - Mental health services
 - Inclusive environment (online students, marginalized students, students with disabilities, international students, all levels (under grad., grad., specialty program), military students, etc.)

Reflection

What wellness activities come naturally to you?

How do these activities fulfill each dimension of well-being? (Emotions, Engagement, Relationships, Meaning, Accomplishment, Health)

What activities and dimensions do you feel require more energy or intention from you?

Engaging Activity: Mindful Minute - Body Scan

- Start in Seated Mountain.
- Bring your attention to the present moment. We are going to start by taking a Mindful Minute.
- Start bringing your attention to the breath, noticing its qualities (fast, slow, warm, cool, shallow, deep...).
- Continue to focus your attention on the breath, and notice how you are feeling. Just notice.

Engaging Activity: Reflection Check-In

Ð

Thrive Thursday: Home Practice

Throughout your day, try to bring attention to:

How and what your body is feeling? How what your breath is doing? What do you notice in your body, breath, and mind? Is there a brain break you can practice to "reset"?

Check specific times of the day, once a day: Morning Afternoon Evening

Thrive Thursday: Creating Change

Give yourself time to develop new patterns/habits.

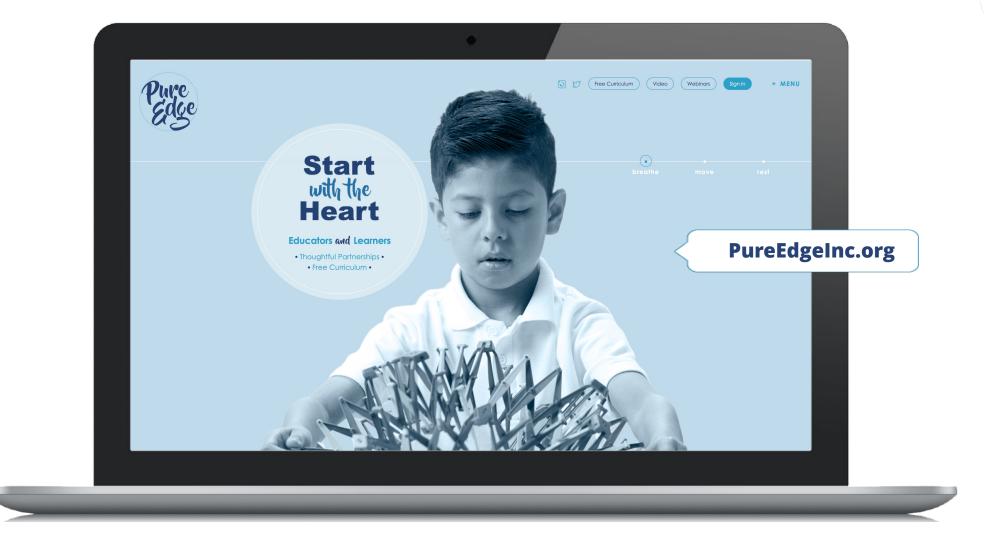

There's a wide range (18-200+ days) in how long it takes to develop a new habit.

It takes, on average, almost 67 days to form a new habit.

Consider the difference between "routines" versus "habits."
